From her hand they have taken the shining ring,
They have brought the linen her shroud to make;
Of the lark she was never so loath to sinr,
And the morn she was never so loath to awake!
And at their sewing hey hear the rain—
Drip-drop, drip-drop, over the eaves,
And drip-drop over the sycamore leaves,
As if there never would be sunshine again.

The mourning rate to the grave have gone,
And the waiting women are here and are there,
With birds at the windows and gleams of the sun
Making the chamber of death to be fair.
And under and over the mist unlaps,
And ruby and amethyst burn through the gray,
And drest bushes grow green with spray,
And the dimpled water its glad hands claps.

The leaves of the sycamore dance and wave,
And the mourners put off the mouraing shows,
And over the pathway down to the grave
The long grass blows, and blows in the heart of the yourge man springs,
And the hands of the midens shines with rings,

West, when there is no more reconstruction measures under consideration, must pave the way for beneficial results to the spirit of acquiescence which manifests itself in the Southern States.

The only thing that makes Washington a place of interest now, is the Surratt trial. In that there is no abatement, and the result is looked for with impatience. Last night the first evening session of the Court was held; but the witness, who it was expected the defence would have present, was not on hard. None of the great "developments" which the country at large has been promising itself would be made on this trial have come to light. Perhaps they are left for Butler's Assassination Committee, where it is stated other "great things" are to astonish the world.

I must not neglect to state in this correspondence that the compliment paid by Mr. Colfax last night, in his seranade speech to the Secretary of War, as being the only member of the Cabinet who had not denounced Congress, is regarded with some significance, as it is known that Ar. Stanton

War, as being the enly member of the Cabinet who had not denounced Congress, is regarded with some significance, as it is known that far. Stanton is being put forward with great energy by some of the most prominent members of the Republican party as their candidate, and in case he should succeed in obtaining the nomination, it is determined, if possible, not to allow his past unpopularity against members of his own party, to mined, if possible, not to allow his past unpopularity, even among members of his own party, to stand in the way of his success.

Matters are likely to be remarkably quiet in Washington for the next month. Every one who can will get out of the city, and that will not have a tendency to make affairs lively. Members of the various committees of Congress will have cocasional demands on their presence here between now and the next meeting of Congress. The question now is, what will be the next source of popular excitement, and where will it emanate from? the Executive Mansion, the headquarters of the

THE OLD STORY. BY ALICE CARRY. The waiting women wait at her feet,
And the day is fiding down to night,
And close at her pillow, and round and sweet,
The red rose burns like a lampa-light. Under and over, the gray mist tops,
And down and down from the mossy eaves,
And down fron the sycamore's long wild leaves,
The slow rain drops, and drops, and drops, Ah! never had alseper a sleep so hir;
And the waiting women that weep around
Have taken the combs from her golden hair,
And its hideth over her face to the ground.
They have hidden the light from her lovely eyes;
And down from the saves where the mosses ground
The rain is dripping, so alow, so slow,
And the night-wind cries, and cries, and cries.

of previous secretions that he will not abandon his position—will have any effect in making the slightest change in the policy of the administration. Possibly the President may construe the paragraph in that document, wherein he states that he can never willingly surrender the powers given him by the Constitution to see that all the laws are faithfully executed, very different to the meaning put upon it by the members of the House, including Messrs. Bontwell and Butler, of Massachusetts, Williams, of Pennsylvania, and some others who called particular attention to it, immediately after the cierk had concluded its reading. That sentence in itself was a grand item for the impeachment men, that is, for those who are still diligently pursuing the theory, and should Executive action be taken in accord with the remark, there will be additional fuel offered to them for use in Kovember. But as I have remarked, there is little idea that the President will depart from the line he has marked out. He will hardly remove any of the military commanders. That would neither keep him or the people of the South, who so far have received no particular good from the policy of the Administration at any time. Their relief must come when reconstruction, according to the plan of Congress, for no where else does power exist, is practically settled, and when civil law will be restored. It will not rest with New England to adjust everything; but a sober thought from the West, when there is no more reconstruction measures under consideration, must pave the way for 490 bbls Naval Stores, 19 cars Lumber, 2 cars Stock, Mdge, &c. Among the chief poi. is of excellence of the Chickersing Planos, of which speak the renowned artists in their congratulatory testimonials to the Mesers. Chickering, she the greatest possible depth, richness and volume of tone, combined with a rare brilliancy, clearness and perfect evenness throughout the entire scale; and, above all, a surprising duration of sound, the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

80,000 PLANOS,

In the construction of which they have introduced every known and valuable improvement. They have invariably been selected and used by all of the world's schwooledged great artists who have visited this country professionally, both for private and public use.

I consider Chickering & Sons' Pianos, beyond com-parison, the best I have ever seen in America.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their singing they are unrivated for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The upper notes are remarkable for a clearness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent sonority.

Your Pianos are superior to any I have ever seen in this country or in Europe.

I have never heard a tone so perfect; it yields every expression that is needed in music, and its quality is capable of change to meet every sentiment. This is a rare power, and is derived from the perfect purity of its tone, together with its sympathetic, elastic and well balanced touch.

During the past eight years I have constantly played upon the justly celebrated Erard Piance; yours are the only instruments that I have found, either here or in Europe, to equal them in all their points of excellence. It may be satisfactory to our patrons and friends
